Dear Mr. Desserich,

I am extremely grateful and proud to accept a grant from The Cure Starts Now in the amount of $35,000 for my study “Establishment of a pre-clinical model for pediatric glioblastoma”. IRB approval has been granted for the portions of the study involving material from human subjects (Aim 2), therefore work on this project will begin immediately upon receipt of the funds. I welcome the Board of Directors and/or the Medical Advisory Council to contact me and/or visit my laboratory at any time for information and progress on our work.

As you know, our battle against pediatric cancer in general and brain tumors in particular is a difficult one and requires hard work and perseverance as well as financial support. Foundations like The Cure Starts Now are an integral part of research into these diseases and I believe accelerate the path toward a cure. I would therefore like to thank you, The Cure Starts Now and all of your contributors for the work and effort that you put in and I hope to earn the trust you have placed in my team with this award.

Sincerely,

Lionel Chow, MD, PhD
Assistant Professor
